Personal Profile

I am a web-development enthusiast with experience building passion projects in reactJS, Typescript, expressJS and postgresSQL. I firmly believe in the principle of lifelong learning, and I find roles that emphasise results achieved through continuous growth and learning exceptionally motivating. Over the past year, I've immersed myself in the realm of programming, dedicating the majority of my free time to acquiring new skills and tackling personal projects. With a relentless curiosity, I am constantly studying to improve my programming ability, general skills, and to learn new things.

Projects:

AI Celebrity Recognition Brain

React, ExpressJS, PostgreSQL

Responsibilities:

- Develop the front and back end at every stage.
- Use react to develop the front-end
- Create the ExpressJS server & postgresSQL database.
- Test, debug and deploy..

Project details:

After logging in, users input an image (url). AI will display the name of the celebrity and how confident it is (fetched via an API).

Tournament Bracket Web-App

React, Javascript, CSS

Responsibilities:

- Consult with dart players to decide features.
- Build the entire app independently from concept to deployment.
- Create custom algorithms in javascript..
- Custom build the CSS.

Project details:

After entering the number of players, seeds and their names, the DOM renders a tournament grid with players randomly assigned a position + opponent.

Nursery HP & Web-App

Typescript, Javascript, CSS

Responsibilities:

- Build the entire app from zero independently.
- Consult with the client on their needs.
- Research which weather API to use.
- Develop the full project independently.

Project details:

The client wanted a dynamic HP for their nursery (currently being created). An API displays weather, and subpages let the user learn about the service.
